Resolution

on a Moratorium on the Death Penalty

#RS02-195

The spirit of the university is embodied in open and rational discourse, humane forms of problem-solution,

Whereas
the humility inevitably generated by the quest for knowledge, and dedication to justice; and

The

Whereas
anger and fear ensuing from crimes very often incomprehensible to the average individual are inimical and even contrary to the values and spirit of the academy; and

The

Whereas
knowledge resulting from new technologies makes it apparent that the death penalty has resulted from evidence persuasive in the moment but later (and sometimes irremediably) shown to be inconclusive; and

It has been demonstrated repeatedly that the death penalty is unfairly applied to individuals

on the basis of their racial and/or ethnic background, ignorance and poverty, major mental

retardation,

and/or severe emotional deprivation or damage, and substandard legal representation; and

report of a highly-respected commission comprised of both supporters and opponents of

department calls for massive reforms in the way states and the federal government

conceptualize and use the death penalty; and

For

many of these reasons the states of Illinois and Maryland recently enacted a moratorium

the death; penalty; therefore be it

Resolved

That

the SFSU Academic Senate endorse actions to place a moratorium on the death penalty in the state of California, and further be it

That

the SFSU Academic Senate urge its elected representatives to support pending legislation calling for a moratorium on executions; and further be it the SFSU Academic Senate reaffirm its commitment to the values of reason, open discourse, and justice that give vitality to the more mundane activities of the university;

That

and

further be it
Resolved that the SFSU Academic Senate send copies of this resolution to Governor Gray Davis, Speaker of the California Assembly Robert M. Hertzberg, California Senate Chair Pro Tem John Burton, Attorney General Bill Lockyer, Californians for a Moratorium on Executions, Senator Dianne Feinstein, Senator Barbara Boxer, and California State University Chancellor Charles B. Reed.
