This document recognizes that faculty and administrators at San Francisco State University aspire toward the same goal: that of maintaining excellence in carrying out the mission of the University. Given the inter-relatedness of faculty and administrative responsibilities, and the need for coordination in carrying out these responsibilities, we endorse the principle that faculty should play an essential role in the selection of San Francisco State University administrators.

The procedures that follow are designed to ensure full consultation with faculty and clear delineation of responsibilities in the process of selecting San Francisco State University administrators, especially those involved in making decisions directly affecting the quality of academic programs. While we recognize that the ultimate responsibility for the appointment of administrators rests with the University President, we also recognize that the faculty must have the opportunity to select their representatives, deliberate as necessary, and make recommendations as provided below, with the assurance that those recommendations will receive serious consideration and will normally be accepted. Students and staff should be represented on all such committees.
