Resolution Number: RF02-203
September, 2002

SUPPORTING REDEFINITION OF THE FACULTY WORKLOAD
AND CREATING A TASKFORCE TO PLAN IMPLEMENTATION

WHEREAS  Some departments and programs at San Francisco State University have an expected teaching load for tenured and tenure-track faculty members of twelve weighted teaching units per semester and other departments and programs have an expected teaching load of nine units or less; now therefore be it

the Academic Senate of San Francisco State University that it shall be a goal of San Francisco State University to move, as expeditiously as possible, to reconfigure the normative faculty workload so that the usual teaching load for tenured and tenure-track teaching faculty shall be approximately sixty percent of the total workload (15 Weighted Teaching Units) each semester with a corresponding increase in the faculty workload in areas other than classroom instruction, including research, scholarly activity, creative work, professional development, and service; and be it further

RESOLVED  by the Academic Senate SFSU that a taskforce, including representatives of the Academic Senate SFSU, the California Faculty Association, and the SFSU administration (in the model of the successful system-wide ACR 73 taskforce), be appointed jointly by the Chair of the Academic Senate SFSU and by the Vice-President for Academic Affairs and charged with

1. Determining a normative teaching load within a normative overall workload for all faculty members, including variations for particular disciplines or circumstances,

2. Developing an implementation plan for reconfiguring the normative faculty workload for those departments and faculty members that wish to do so, and

3. Reporting its recommendations to the Academic Senate and the Vice- President for Academic Affairs no later than the final senate meeting in May 2003.
